

NINE MONTH SESSION IS NOW AT END

CONGRESS ADJOURNS SINE DIE TODAY, TERMINATING IM-PORTANT LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITY.

LARGE APPROPRIATIONS

Total Amount of Money Will Approach Two Billion Dollar Mark, Setting New Record for United States.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The first session of the sixty-fourth congress, which adjourned today, was concerned chiefly with national defense.

When the gavel fell congress had directed reorganization and re-equipment of the army and navy for defense of the country at the unprecedented cost of $1,858,384,455, the greatest aggregate in the country's history and exceeding that for the last fiscal year by more than half a billion dollars.

Expenditures, necessitated by preparedness and the calling into action of military forces to meet the Mexican emergency demanded revenue legislation in the closing days of the session. Congress responded by doubling the normal tax on incomes, creating an inheritance tax, munitions tax and miscellaneous excise taxes to raise $205,000,000 and by directing sale of $130,000,000 Panama Canal bonds.

Principal Enactments. Congress established a Tariff Commission; a Government Shipping Board to rehabilitate the American merchant marine; a Workmen's Compensation Commission to administer a new uniform compensation law; a farm loan banking system; a Child Labor law; enlarged tax system of self-governments in the Philippines and enacted many other important laws which had been contemplated by the administration.

The session was disturbed throughout by recurring threats of foreign complications from the European war and imminence at one time of a diplomatic break with Germany, interference with American shipping and invasion of American soil and killing of Americans by Mexican bandits and danger of actual war with Mexico.

Later in the session trouble arose in the Senate over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis, of Boston, to succeed the late Justice Lamar as a member of the Supreme Court. The nomination and deliberation by the judiciary committee ended in confirmation of Mr. Brandeis by a large majority.

Most important legislative enactments of the session, exclusive of laws for national defense, included the following: Government Ship Law: Appropriating $20,000,000 to operate ships in foreign and coastwise trade when unable to lease them to individuals or private corporations.

Child Labor Law: Denying interstate commerce to products of mines and quarries employing children under 16 years of age and factories, mills, canneries and other enterprises employing children under 14 years.

Rural Credits Law: Establishing a Farm Loan Board in control of a system of Farm Loan Mortgage Banks. Compensation Law: Providing uniform sick and accident benefits for employees of the Federal Government, and benefits to dependents in case of death.

Emergency Revenue Law: Providing for doubling the normal income tax on the lowest class; making an additional surtax ranging from one per cent on that portion of the taxable income in excess of $2,000 to 12 per cent on that portion of income in excess of $20,000; levying a graduated tax of one to ten per cent on incomes ranging from $50,000 to $100,000; a tax on net profit tax on manufacturers of munitions, five per cent net profit tax on manufacturers of materials entering into munitions; a tax on net profit tax on manufacturers of capital stock of corporations capitalized at more than $99,000; wine, beer and liquor excise taxes and miscellaneous stamp taxes.

Good Road Law: Providing for cooperative Federal aid to the States for construction of highways, and appropriating $75,000,000 to be spent in five years.

Savings Law: Amendment increasing the amount which individuals may deposit from $500 to $1,000 with interest.

Federal Reserve: Amendments, including amendment to the Clayton anti-trust law permitting officers and directors of member banks to become officers and directors of other non-competing banks; amendments permitting national banks to establish foreign branches; liberalizing regulations for permitting commercial banks to act as agents for insurance companies.

Railroad Legislation: Creation of a joint subcommittee of Senate and House to investigate necessity for further legislation for railroads and the national relations.

Congressional Session Review Shows Preparedness Big Issue

Washington, Sept. 8.—The first session of the sixty-fourth congress, which adjourned today, was concerned chiefly with national defense.

Secretary Lansing said in part: "We have watched the progress of the revolution with anxious solicitude. We have tried to be fair in judgment and to see things from the point of view of those who control the destinies of Mexico. We have sought to be patient and to wait the time when our approach of peace and order in Mexico would offer favorable opportunity for the adjustment of our difficulties. From first to last we have kept our minds free from rancor and bitterness and prejudice and have in spirit of disinterested friendliness confidently expected that the day would come when the representatives of the two countries could meet and calmly and frankly discuss our international relations. Secretary Lane said in part: "Nations today must learn to live by the standards of each other. That is the purpose of this conference. It is to let you know what lies this side of that border—not the mere physical strength or the political organization that constitutes the United States, but the spirit of our people and their attitude toward you and in turn to learn from you what lies behind those troubles which have disturbed the peace of the world for so many years and which have given you such years of distress. It is inconceivable that the conditions which now prevail shall obtain indefinitely or for any period. We do not wish it and neither do we."

Mexicans Applaud Speaker. His closing words, vigorously applauded by the Mexican commissioners, were: "I am sure, let Mexico make herself in her own way. Let her people rise to the high dignity and power of which they are capable. As neighbors we will respect your rights. As neighbors we shall expect you to respect ours. Surely, with those principles in their hearts six men can find a way to save the honor and interest of both Mexico and the United States."

TOTAL HAS SHOWN THE FINAL VOTE

PHILLIPS TOTAL VOTE MORE THAN HIS TWO OPPONENTS COMBINED THIS FAR.

HARRINGTON IS SAFE

Will Control the Legislature With Only Thirty-Three Districts in Dispute at the Present Time.

Madison, Sept. 8.—With the vote from eleven counties still missing, Governor Phillips' total vote is at present double that of both Hutton and McGovern combined and he has a clear majority. His figures this afternoon were over sixty-two thousand. Hutton, second and McGovern a bare third. The Harrington-Hull contest for the secretary of state's office is still undecided, although the progressives concede Harrington's nomination by two thousand votes. Harrington's friends, however, only make the claim of a thousand, and it may be possible that this decision will await the official count. Johnson has defeated Peterson for state treasurer by a handsome majority that continues to grow as late returns come in. Both Cousins and Hicks of the conservative ticket are defeated.

The vote for United States Senator does not change much. La Follette still maintains a lead around twenty thousand over Johnson, but it is not so large as it was thought it would be. Twenty-five thousand, even the progressives now conceding their first estimate was too high.

SUSAN B. AMENDMENT MUST BE FAVORED OR NO SUFF VOTE

National Suffrage Body Unanimously Places Edict Before Candidates in November Election.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 8.—The National Women's association convention today concurred in a resolution favoring the Susan B. Anthony amendment for the federal constitutional amendment. The resolution was offered by Mr. Robbins of Chicago and a number of other delegates.

HOT WEATHER CAUSE OF BIG CROP LOSS

Spring Wheat, Corn, Oats and Potatoes Have Heavily Decreased Production Says Government Report.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Hot and dry weather during August caused a loss of 67,000,000 bushels in the prospective crop of corn, 33,000,000 bushels in spring wheat, 43,000,000 bushels in potatoes. Tobacco production prospects are increased 27 million pounds. Production of the principal farm products of the country from the September report at the time of harvest, are as follows: Spring wheat, 156,000,000; fall wheat, 67,000,000; corn, 2,710,000,000; oats, 1,251,000,000; barley, 184,000,000; buckwheat, 1,548,000; white potatoes, 318,000,000; sweet potatoes, 7,943,000; hay, tons, 8,642,000,000; apples, barrels, 6,747,000; peaches, 3,649,000 bushels.

VON BERNSTORFF'S WIFE RETURNS TO U. S.; SEES LINES OF CARE IN HUSBAND'S FACE

Count and Countess von Bernstorff, photographed since her return to the United States.

Countess von Bernstorff arrived in New York a few days ago and was met at the pier by her husband, the German ambassador to the United States. The countess was formerly Jeanette Luckenbach of New York. She has not been in this country for two years. Lines of care have been written on the face of the German ambassador since the outbreak of the war.

CAPTAIN OF OWEGO HAS NO COMPLAINT ON U-BOAT ATTACK

Makes Statement in Which He Declares Submarine Commander Had No Intention of Destroying U. S. Ship.

New York, Sept. 8.—Details of the firing at and stopping of the American steamship Owego by a German submarine in the English channel on August 3 were told by Captain Barlow of the Owego on her arrival today from Rotterdam. Captain Barlow confirmed cable reports that he was unable to see the submarine because of a thick haze. He said that apparently there was no intention on the part of the U-boat captain to hit the Owego, and added that he had no complaint to make.

"We were nearing the French coast at the time," Captain Barlow said. "Cannonading had been heard for several hours from the shore and we were used to the sound. I was at the time when my mate told me that he distinguished gun fire close at hand. I went on deck in time to hear the report of a gun nearby. I was then told that there was a calm sea and a thick haze. I could not see the submarine, but several shots were fired and a projectile passed the stern of my ship. A submarine appeared soon."

"I was flying at the time an American flag twenty-two feet long and on both sides of the ship flags were on with name of vessel and letters U. S. The submarine commander ordered me to stop. His first words were: 'Captain, you should be more careful; these are war times.' I replied: 'I am sorry, but I am not a warship. You should be more careful; didn't you see my flag?' But I signalled you to stop. The officer said, to which I replied, 'How could I see your signals when I could not see your boat?' The commander was very pleasant. He examined my papers, then gave me a written permit to proceed. I signed the permit and intended to hit the ship and he did not intend to hit my ship and I have no complaint to make."

SURFACE CAR LINES TIED UP IN STRIKE

Interborough Rapid Transit Co. Faces Serious Problem in Effort to Break Strike.

New York, Sept. 8.—Having prevented the efforts of its striking employees to tie up the subway and elevated lines, the Interborough Rapid Transit company today turned its attention to its surface lines which have been crippled since the strike was declared on Wednesday evening. All cars on the so-called Green line representing the greater part of the present system in Manhattan and New York were drawn at eight last night after maintaining during the day a service barely twenty per cent of normal.

GRABS COP'S PISTOL OUT POCKET; SUICIDES

Demented From Inability to Secure Job, Man Steals Gun From Mounted Officer and Kills Self.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—A man believed to be Arthur B. Hanson of Omaha, Neb., seized a revolver from the pocket of a mounted policeman and shot himself today at Randolph and Dearborn streets. The streets were crowded at the time. The suicide was probably driven to despondency over failure to find employment. No money was found in his clothing. Postal cards mailed from Denver and other cities signed Charlotte, were found in his effects.

WILL GOVERNOR OR SENATOR INTRODUCE HUGHES AT MADISON?

Politicians Are Speculating as to Whether Phillips or La Follette Will Do the Honors.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—Two presidential candidates are to visit Wisconsin within the next two weeks. Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, will speak in Madison about September 22. While the headquarters at Chicago have not definitely announced the date and time of arrival, it has been indicated that the candidate will be here about September 22. Whether he will speak in Milwaukee before coming to Madison is uncertain. It is certain, however, that he will appear in Milwaukee, Saturday Candidate Hanly will be here.

There is considerable speculation here as to whether Candidate Hughes will be presented to the voters here by Senator La Follette. The senator is absent from the state at the present time and his managers would make no comment further than pointing out that the senator's magazine had come out for the candidate, although criticizing the platform adopted by the party at Chicago. There is also considerable talk that the candidate will be introduced by Governor Phillips. It is pointed out in this connection that the governor was one of the first out-and-out spokesmen in the state to come out for Mr. Hughes and that the conservative part of the republican delegation at Chicago voted for Mr. Hughes from the first.

According to announcements received here, Frank Hanly, the republican candidate for the governor, will speak in Madison Saturday afternoon, September 9. He comes here from Waukesha. On his trip in Wisconsin he will be accompanied by George McKerron, the republican gubernatorial candidate for the prohibitionists of this state. The so-called Hanly-Landith train left Chicago this morning. On Saturday night the party will spend at Racine. The candidates will be taken on a special train across the continent, speaking at the larger places.

PROGRESSIVES PLAN CONVENTION FIGHT

Although Phillips Forces Control Platform Gathering, La Follette Men Will Fight for Planks.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—A preliminary check-up of the candidates who have been nominated by the republican primaries would indicate that Governor Phillips will have control of the state convention which convenes here Sept. 19. He has probably gained one vote in the senate and several votes in the assembly. However there is a goodly sprinkling of progressives and their will make a fight for the progressive platform. Because of the fact that Senator La Follette is a candidate this year it is said that he will make a fight to have several progressive planks incorporated in the platform. One of the new ideas which it is said will be pressed is the promising of a law for sickness insurance. No one seems to have been selected as probable candidate for chairman of the republican state central committee. George West is mentioned here as the probable Phillips candidate and some of the progressives may favor someone else. Those who claim to know say that Charles H. Crowhart, who managed the campaign for Senator La Follette, will not be a candidate for the position. On the same day that the republican convention is meeting here under the terms of the primary election law, the other parties will also be holding conventions. It is generally conceded that inasmuch as Bert Williams was nominated by a convention at the time, the second convention will be merely perfunctory. The socialists will also hold a convention here at the same time.

FIGHT RAGES: DANUBE TO BLACK SEA

RUSSIANS TAKE LEAD IN NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST BULGARIANS AND GERMANS.

RUMANIA IS INVADIED

Germans Claim to Have Captured Sobrie Fort and Three Seaports in Rumania—Battle Continues Along Somme.

London, Sept. 8.—The beginning of a great battle in southeastern Rumania where the Russians have taken the offensive against the Bulgarians and Germans is reported in a dispatch given out by the wireless press. The struggle is now under way over the whole front between the Danube and the Black Sea coast, about 100 miles north of the Bulgarian frontier, the wireless dispatch says, which was received from Petrograd, Rumania.

An unofficial Bulgarian report received today says that the Bulgarians and German forces which are invading Rumania have captured the fort of Sobrie and three seaports.

On the Somme Front. German troops were sent out in attacking the region south of the river Somme in France says today's official statement. The French were repulsed with great losses. The capture of the point of the Berry, the statement said, some portions of trenches remained in the hands of the French.

British Infiltrate Loss. London, Sept. 8.—British troops southwest of Lille in the night raided the German trenches east of Ghuchy and near Pishburgh Arcehoull and Avenue, inflicting severe losses on the occupants, says the British official statement issued this evening.

PRESIDENT LEAVES ON LONG VACATION

Trip May Not Exactly Be Pleasure Jaunt But He Will Be Away Until After November Elections.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson left Washington at one o'clock for a stay which may extend until after election in November. He expects to arrive at Atlantic City at 3:45 this afternoon and to spend the night at the National Women's Suffrage association. After spending the night there he will motor to the summer White House at Shadow Lawn, Long Branch, N. J. for an extended stay. The president was busy up to the time of his departure with work incident to adjournment of congress. After spending an hour at the capital he attached his signature to many commissions and executive papers. A staff of messengers left for Long Branch today and will open executive offices tomorrow there. The president plans to begin speaking tonight before the convention. His speech is expected to be brief.

HUGHES INSISTS HE IS FRIEND OF LABOR

Republican Candidate in Speech at Lewiston, Me., Continues Attack Upon Passage of Adamson Bill.

Lewiston, Sept. 8.—Charles E. Hughes, speaking here today, continued his attack on the administration for the passage of the Adamson law. He continued: "Now if anyone rises in this country to say that I am not in favor of labor, he knows that he is not telling the truth." Mr. Hughes reviewed his stand in connection with labor legislation while governor of New York, read an editorial of October, 1910, in which it was said that he was the greatest friend of the labor cause that ever occupied the governorship of that state at Albany.

"That is complimentary, but it is true," said Mr. Hughes.

PRESIDENT MAY NOT SPEAK IN JANESVILLE

Tells Husting, After Invitation to Give Wisconsin Address, He Plans Only Nonpartisan Talks.

Washington, Sept. 8.—President Wilson told Senator Husting of Wisconsin today that his present plan was to make speeches before non-partisan gatherings and that he would not come to Janesville to speak in Wisconsin, but Mr. Wilson replied that he had no present intention of making political speeches in different parts of the country.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 108.

Cattle men, afraid of the tell-tale nature of the tuberculin test, are constantly making violent efforts to suppress its use—only the education of the public to the truth of the situation can restrain the activity of these dealers in disease and death.

The application of the tuberculin test to the dairy industry has been increased in extent, with all its attendant disclosures concerning the widespread prevalence of tuberculosis among the dairy herds of the country, cattle dealers and the owners of large dairy herds became alarmed.

Federal veterinarians had found that even where the diseased animal had been "plugged" by a secret tuberculin, a double dose administered under certain conditions would be followed by a tell-tale reaction in spite of the trickery employed to conceal it.

The cattle dealers and dairymen, when administered as it should be administered, meant a complete disclosure of the conditions which were making every effort to keep a systematic programme adopted for the purpose of disguising the tuberculin test.

"The test is not reliable," they declared.

This statement, brought through allegedly reliable sources to the newspapers of the country, was followed by press despatches designed to create the impression that the public mind that the tuberculin test had failed.

The inhuman nature of this purposeful distortion of the truth is disclosed by the experience of every experienced station in the United States and the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Government.

The department of agriculture of the United States has conclusively established the accuracy and reliability of the tuberculin test.

The first attack of the dairy men and cattle dealers upon its reliability failed. They then declared that tuberculin as few cows were diseased and the test was not needed.

This argument was met by statistics compiled by the federal government and by university authorities in that at least 71 per cent of all the herds examined contained tubercular cows.

Falling in their efforts to blind the public to the prevalence of tuberculosis among milk-producing animals, the cattle men resorted to another desperate expedient.

They asserted that even if cows are tubercular their milk does no harm because having tuberculosis is not transmissible to man.

Again their efforts to suppress the truth in the interest of dollars, were met by the results of over a hundred scientific experiments proving that tuberculosis is indeed transmissible to man and that its ravages are appalling.

In spite of these facts the propaganda of falsehood continued.

In the state of Illinois, where the revelations of the test proved most disastrous to the owners of diseased cows, the cattle men succeeded in inducing the legislature to abolish it in the most high handed and unconstitutional manner.

Notwithstanding the fact that the New Jersey Supreme Court established its legal standing by handing down the following opinion:

"It must be conceded that where, as in this case, the Board of Health makes the determination of the existence of disease depend upon a special method of diagnosis, that method must be, if not the most reliable, as reliable as any."

The existence of disease is necessarily to some extent a matter of opinion or inference from established facts. The most skillful veterinarian may err. The most reliable symptoms may be deceptive, and absolute accuracy in diagnosis cannot be looked for.

To demand it is a counsel of perfection not adapted to the exigencies of everyday life. Perfection of that degree is not attained under the diagnosis of human disease, even where the physician is able to state subjective symptoms and give a history of the complaint. All that can be fairly required in the determination of the fact of disease is that the method of diagnosis should be well recognized, thoroughly proved, and as reliable as any.

"This court finds that the tuberculin test is the most reliable method of diagnosing tuberculosis in cattle now known."

"We rest this conclusion not merely upon the testimony in the case before us, but upon the fact that it has been proved by judicial decision in Minnesota, Louisiana, Wisconsin, and Pennsylvania. The State vs. Nelson, 68 Minn. 168; 68 N. W. 1068; Nelson vs. Minneapolis, 127 N. W. 445; City of New Orleans vs. Charon, 121 Louisiana, 890; 46 Southern Rep. 911; Adams vs. Milwaukee, 129 N. W. 518; Limber vs. Meadville in Crawford Common Pleas, Pennsylvania; and adopted by the most recent statute in Delaware, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Washington, and Wisconsin, and for some purposes by Maine, Massachusetts, and Vermont."

In spite of the clearly established legality of the tuberculin test, the cattle dealers and dairymen succeeded in destroying it.

Less than twenty cow dealers in Chicago, controlling less than 5,000 dairymen, living in five counties, were thus able to impose upon a stupid, if not conscienceless, majority to the extent of depriving the 5,000,000 people of Illinois, living in 102 counties of that state, of the protection afforded by the tuberculin test.

Curious Bombardment.

The island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies, has near its shores the Salt Rock, which appears, when seen from a short distance, like a full-rigged ship under canvas. If the sky is cloudy and atmosphere hazy the illusion is remarkable.

There is told the story of a mortifying mistake made by a French corvette while cruising in these latitudes years ago. It was at a time when the buccanniers were making great havoc with legitimate commerce in the West Indies. The coast was partially hidden by a fog when the corvette made out this rock, and, supposing it to be a ship under full sail, fired a gun to demand to bid her leave to. Of course, there was no response to the shot, and the Frenchman brought his ship closer and cleared the decks for action.

Satisfied that he had to do with a powerful adversary, he discharged the whole of his starboard armament into the supposed ship looming through the mist. The corvette went about and prepared to deliver her port guns in a similar manner. Then the fog slowly dispersed, and the rock smiled grimly on its assailants.

SUGAR COMPANY TO START OPERATIONS

CAPTAIN DAVIDSON HAS MADE PLANS FOR HANDLING NEXT YEAR'S CROP.

W. B. DAVIS MANAGER

Will Mean Much for Rock County and for the Janesville Business Men and Workmen.

Announcement is made that Captain James Davidson of Bay City, Mich., owner of the Rock County Sugar Company, is planning to reopen his factory for handling next year's crop of sugar beets and that he will have his agents in the field shortly contracting acreage for the coming year's product. W. B. Davis, who for ten years was employed at the Rock County Sugar Company's offices, will be the active manager and expects to assume his new duties within a short time, when Captain Davidson will arrive with his engineers and map out the active campaign that is to follow. Mr. Davis is particularly fitted for the position, not only owing to his thorough acquaintance with the business, but his widespread friendship throughout the county.

The Rock County Sugar Company was closed when the democratic congress took the tariff off of the sugarcane product, and placed it on the free list. Now that congress has again placed sugar on the list for tariff charges Captain Davidson intends to reopen his factory. This means the employment of some hundred men in the factory and during the three months the factory is operated full force and the beets are being handled, some three hundred and fifty tons of sugar will be produced. It is also stated that the price (last season it was six dollars per ton) is paid to the growers of four thousand or more acres, averaging about twelve to fifteen tons per acre. The company has secured a supply through consignments to the various importing firms through special government concessions so he expects to have plenty on hand to start the season with.

Mr. Davis had no definite knowledge when Captain Davidson would arrive and active field operations for acreage began, but expected it would be within the next few weeks. Just who will be the agriculturalist has not yet been decided upon, but will be settled upon Captain Davidson's arrival.

COUNTY CANVASSING BOARD IN SESSION AT COURT HOUSE

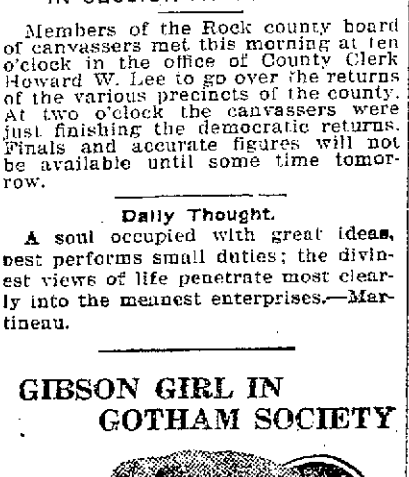

Members of the Rock county board of canvassers met this morning at ten o'clock in the office of County Clerk Howard W. Lee to go over the returns of the various precincts of the county.

At two o'clock the canvassers were just finishing the democratic returns. Final and accurate figures will not be available until some time tomorrow.

MILTON JCT. MAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Aged Man Unable to Hear Approaching Train and is Killed Instantly.

Henry Johnson of Milton Junction, was instantly killed this afternoon at one-thirty when he was hit by a St. Paul freight train at the Rogers street crossing near Milton. Mr. Johnson, who was past eighty years old and was very deaf, was crossing the tracks when he was killed; it is believed that he was unable to hear the approaching train because of his affliction.

He was struck squarely by the cow-catcher of the engine and thrown some distance from the track. The mangled body of the unfortunate man was taken to Milton Junction to the undertakers. Mr. Johnson is survived by a widow and a son, Fred Johnson, of Milton Junction.

County Highway Commissioner Charles B. Moore, several members of the county board, Janesville business men and good roads committee representatives of the county are to attend.

In addition, farmers living on roads leading from here between this city and Beloit, have been requested to attend so that they who perhaps will derive the most benefit, providing the project comes to a reality, may give their opinion as to various phases of the proposition.

TWO CENT FARE LAW LARGELY MODIFIED BY LATE DECISION

Ruling of Interstate Commerce Commission is Aimed to Prevent Prevalent Abuses.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—Wisconsin's two-cent fare law, as well as the law giving the state railroad commission authority to fix freight rates, are both practically knocked out by two of the most important decisions handed down by the interstate commerce commission. This startling fact was discovered when copies of these decisions were received by the railroad commission. The first one, dealing with passenger fares, is No. 507, entitled "Chicago, St. Louis, and St. Paul, etc. v. The Atchafalaya, Topoka & Santa Fe Railway Co. The second rate case is known as "The Missouri River, Nebraska, etc. v. The Missouri River, Nebraska, etc."

Interprets Decision.—Although going into an extended analysis of either of these decisions, the following can be stated on the authority of a state official who desires, however, that his name be not used. He said: "This means (referring to the passenger fare case) that where the passenger fare is fixed by the interstate commerce commission, the interstate commerce commission, and causes a discrimination against any other mode of transportation in order to induce that mode, the interstate commerce commission may compel the railroad to raise the passenger fare to the level of the other mode. The interstate commerce commission, which in Wisconsin is a public utility, the passenger rate of two cents a mile is fixed in Illinois by law as in Wisconsin. The interstate commerce commission holds, however, that where this statute brings about discrimination against interstate travel, the law must give way to the federal statute. In the decision it was shown, for instance, that the rate of fare between East St. Louis, Ill., and Plainville, Ill., was 34c, while the fare from St. Louis, Mo., just across the river from East St. Louis, to Plainville, Ill., was $1.20. It was also shown that the fare between St. Louis and Chicago is now $7.50, while the fare between East St. Louis and Chicago has been $5.20 for about nine years. As a consequence of this discrimination, in fact, large numbers of passengers from St. Louis to Illinois points, purchased from St. Louis to East St. Louis for 25 cents, and there buy tickets from East St. Louis to points in Illinois at the two-cent fare which is lower than the interstate fare."

Find Rates Discriminatory.—In the Missouri river case the Nebraska commission after years of study fixed the freight rates which it deemed proper for all freight traffic between points wholly in the state of Nebraska. There had long existed an adjustment of interstate rates from points like Council Bluffs, Sioux City, St. Joseph and Kansas City, just outside Nebraska, to points in the state of Nebraska. This interstate relation and adjustment was destroyed by the order of the Nebraska commission fixing the rates between points in Nebraska like Omaha and Lincoln and all other points in Nebraska. The interstate commerce commission found that this would bring about discrimination against interstate commerce. It fixed a maximum distance rate of its own much higher than the Nebraska tariff and in effect told the railroads that they must raise this rate for all freight traffic between Omaha, Lincoln and eleven other principal cities in Nebraska, going to all other points in Nebraska. As this involved 85 per cent of all the purely state traffic, the effect of the order will be approved by the United States supreme court, that the interstate commerce commission has fixed the state rate for 85 per cent of all state traffic in Nebraska. This decision is based on what is known as the Shreveport case decided by the supreme court of the United States a year or two ago. The interstate commerce commission had the power to make such adjustments in freight rates. No case relating to passenger fares has as yet been taken to the supreme court but it is decided similarly it would mean that Wisconsin's two-cent fare law had lost a great proportion of its effect.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Dickenson and sister, Mrs. Angie Roth, went to Madison yesterday to attend the funeral of an uncle.

Adolph Jensen, went to Milwaukee yesterday to arrange his forces that will have charge of the entrance gates at the state fair grounds next week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cunningham of Chicago, are visiting at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Richard Curran.

Miss Hazel Short, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Will (Hoff) departed for Rochester, Minn., yesterday, where she will submit to an examination at the Mayo hospital.

10:00 a. m. Sunday school. 11:00 a. m. morning worship. The minister will preach a five minute sermon to the children. The subject of the morning's sermon will be "And Now Abide Hope." 7:30 p. m. evening worship. The minister will preach on "The Parable of the Good Samaritan." Strangers are welcome to all services.

At the church, Harvin R. Brandt, minister.

Lutheran Church.—In order to meet the needs of the transition from Norwegian to English, there are two morning services at the Lutheran church. The first in English at 10:00 and the second in Norwegian at 11:00 o'clock. At the first service the pastor will speak on "What You Can Do for the Church." There will be a Sunday school rally at 9:30 a. m. Saturday at 10:00 o'clock. There will be no regular evening services. Special exercises for Sunday evening will be announced later. A cordial invitation to take part in the work and worship of the church is extended to all who have no church home. Rev. J. Linnevald, pastor.

Discouraging.—It is very discouraging to a thoughtful man to note how the advice of our leading medical scientists is disregarded in this thoughtless, careless, and reckless age, and though we have watched closely ever since this plague for the ill of the flesh was first advocated, we have been disappointed, not to see so much as one of our adult female population walking about on all fours.

China Cement.—Take dissolved gum arabic and stir in enough plaster of paris to make a soft paste. This is almost colorless and acts excellently as cement for china. In repairing very delicate china or porcelain, tie the pieces carefully in place with tape. It is then put in a saucepan of milk and the latter is very gradually brought to boiling point. Remove the saucepan from the fire, but leave the china in it for about six minutes. Lift out carefully and place on a shelf to dry.

Now a Necessity.—In the shortening of distances and the bringing of people together the automobile has taken its place alongside the telephone.

Bookshop Guides.—A big bookshop always seems to us a most confusing place. In such an "embarrassment of riches" which way is one to turn? To guide one to what is really worth while there should be an announcer, as at the railway terminals, shouting in an enormous voice:

"This way for Emerson, Amy Lowell and poets north of Boston. This track for Ernest Dowson and way stations on the Decadent division. This aisle for Joseph Conrad and the Anglo-Russian school. This train for Spoon River, Vachel Lindsay and the Chicago slum poets."—Life.

Fully Informed.—Uncle Mose applied to the elective office of justice of the peace in the "black bottom" part of town. One bar there was to his preferment; he could neither read nor write. His master, advised him to go to the commissioner of elections and ask whether he was eligible. Mose went and returned.

"What did he tell you, Mose?" inquired the master. "It's all right, sah," answered Mose; "dat gentleman suttinly was kind, yass, sah. He tole me Ah was illegible fo' dat office."—Argonaut.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Sept. 8.—A broken truck on one of the cars of the eleven o'clock freight train last night ripped up about four rods of track near the Leonard crossing. The accident occurred a short way from the depot, from where the train started. Eight cars were derailed and one was completely turned over to clear the right of way. The wrecker and crew arrived about midnight and work was continued all night. Traffic was not delayed as the siding was repaired for the morning passenger trains.

Dan Cummings was a Milwaukee visitor today.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Quinn of Milwaukee visited here Monday and Tuesday.

The Misses Hazel and Theodora Watson of Stoughton are visiting their grandfather, George Watson.

The Misses Anna and Hilda Detloff have gone to Harvard, Ill., to take up the nursing course at the hospital.

DR. HAMILTON RICE READY TO SAIL
WITH SOCIETY WIFE TO SOUTH AMERICA

Dr. A. Hamilton Rice, who sails this fall on his private yacht the "Albion" into the upper reaches of the Amazon and the Orinoco will have with him his wife, who was formerly Mrs. George D. Widener, widowed when the Philadelphia magnate went down on the Titanic. Mrs. Rice shows interest in venturing into a region swarming with poisonous insect life and where there is always the peril of fever. Final preparations for the expedition are being made.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Love and adventure vie each other for the principal interest in the new feature film, "The Man from Bitter Roots," by Caroline Lockhart. An intricate story which weaves into one the lives of three persons, deals with mining conditions in the west.

A relentless fate seems to pursue Bruce Burt, the par played by William Farnum, from first to last. At the very end he is reconciled to a father from whom he had been estranged for many years. Not until then does he realize the happiness which he deserves from the first.

EDITH STOREY IN "THE SHOP GIRL."
In "The Shop Girl," a new five-reel picture, Edith Storey, the feminine lead, is first seen as a clothing model on board a steamer returning from Europe. Peter Rolfs (Antonio Moreno), son of the millionaire of the same name, becomes infatuated with her, despite her station, but his sister, Edna, breaks off the affair by telling Winifred that Peter is already engaged and is only trifling with her. With the modiste and finds herself blackballed in the trade.

She finally obtains a position as saleswoman in a store owned by Peter's father. Peter searches the city in vain for her. His search leads to his father's store, where he is informed that his sister had obtained Winifred's discharge that morning. Following information given him at the store, Peter is just in time to rescue Winifred from the clutches of Mexelson, the store manager, who had inveigled her into his home. Although skeptical of Peter's intentions at first, Winifred's happiness is complete when she sees that he really loves her.

NEPHEW OF T. R. IS A MOVIE STAR
Julian D. Cowles, who has a part in "Notorious Gallager," a graduate of Yale and a nephew of Theodore Roosevelt by marriage. Of course, the kinship is only an in-law, but Mr. Cowles is mighty glad to claim it. Mr. Cowles made so many friends with Marguerite Snow that every one is hoping he will appear again with her.

An aged man telling the story of his early life, brings about the reunion of separated man and wife and serves as the plot for "Memories," a one-reel drama, written and being filmed by Allen Holubar. Both man and wife go to the aged one for advice and his story of how his life was blighted causes them to realize the importance of reuniting for their own happiness. Holubar appears as the old man, Paul Byron as the husband, Helen Leslie as the wife, and Betty Schade, the old man's wife.

Miss Fannie Fuller has gone to Heron Lake, Minn., where she will teach German and geology in the high school.

Mrs. Carrie Menzel and son, Edwin, of Port Atkinson, are visiting her brother, Charles Blenck, for a few days. The Misses Marjorie Marshall, Dorothy Harrison, Elizabeth Cook and Charlotte Hurbit commenced teaching in Beloit Tuesday.

Judge Jay P. Lyon held court here yesterday at the city hall.

Truman Spooner of Madison visited at the Spooner home the first of the week.

Katherine Steele is home from Wausau and will leave in a few days for Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Garlock and daughter, Edith, spent Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. E. Stone in Milton Junction.

Father M. E. Downs visited his parents in Delavan on Tuesday.

Chestnut Bread.
Bread is made from chestnuts by the mountain peasantry in Italy and France. After the nuts have been blanched they are dried and ground. From this flour a sweet and heavy cake is made which resembles the oatmeal cakes so popular in Scotland.

Weeds Prove Theory.
Someone once said that "It's not so much a question of the survival of the fittest as of fitting as many as possible to survive," and truer words were never spoken. Everybody who has a garden and carefully tends it knows that the only things which really seem fit to survive are the weeds.

Nursing a Forgetfulness.
"Of course you have said things that you would like to take back," "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "When you regret something and try to take it back, you simply remind people that you said it."

Gazette want ads sell anything, and quickly, too.

William Farnum in "The Man from Bitter Roots."

In his latest film release Farnum plays the part of a miner who battles against enormous odds, to achieve the happiness that is his in the end.

When at last she'd finished she pronounced the dinner fine—but it divorced the little man from nine dollars and a dime.

METRO PICTURES

If we could tell you what a certain picture is like you would not miss seeing it. Contrary to its title, which suggests the rough, red blooded type of picture. It is largely a vivid drama of New York's society life. Both it's name and it's posters are an injustice to this photoplay, which will class as one of the finest ever made.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am four and a half inches tall and weigh about one hundred and thirty pounds. When I am out at work I am too fat and too fat. I am self-conscious and bashful. Does it really hinder my being popular? How can I overcome my bashfulness? (2) Is a girl of fourteen too young to go with boys? All girls of that age are. (3) When out with boys what can you talk about to keep them interested? (4) I am of a good-natured disposition and am a carefree, do not take things seriously. I have tried, but soon slip back to my old way. People say I am too careless and do not laugh too much. Do you think I am only fifteen? (5) You are not too heavy for your age and certainly not too fat. It is personal counts in making one well liked. To overcome bashfulness, think about other people. If you think of yourself, you will not have so much time to be self-conscious. Remember that they are too busy to be thinking about awkwardness on your part.

All girls of fourteen do not go with boys. They are not old enough to have "fellows," but it is all right for them to have boy playmates. Baseball, football or any kind of sports, mutual friends, school papers or books both of you have read, will be light-hearted, but not too much.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am three attractive girls summering here. We have been spoken to many times, but would not reply. We are used to a great deal of attention at home. How would you advise our making some gentlemen acquaintances in a respectable way? (2) Is it proper for a party of girls, nineteen, to exercise public dance with young gentlemen in a machine unchaperoned? (3) If one of the three is invited out to a party, should she go without the other two? (4) You surely have some acquaintances (girls or older people) who know young men. Ask them to introduce you to some. They will also meet them if you want to.

(2) No. (3) Yes.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Palatable dishes for the picnic basket.

Here are some palatable and different concoctions which will be acceptable in the picnic basket or in the worker's or child's lunch box:

Stuffed Figs—Mash cream cheese, mixed with heavy cream, season highly with salt and cayenne pepper. Roll into balls three-fourths inch in diameter. Wash and dry figs. Make an incision in each and insert with cheese balls. Roll in powdered sugar.

Walnut Dacris—Work a ten-cent cream cheese until smooth, add one fourth cup olives (chopped and stoned), one-half teaspoon salt and a few grains of paprika. Shape into balls, roll into sifted cracker crumbs, flatten and place halves of salted English walnuts on each piece. Wrap in oiled paper.

Caraway Seed Cookies—Cream one-half cup butter and one cup sugar. Then add one egg and beat, and add one egg and beat good. Dissolve one spoonful milk, add one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add these and beat well again. Then add two cups bread flour and one tablespoon caraway seed. Roll into one-fourth inch thickness, cut with floured cookie cutter, place on buttered tin and bake in moderate oven.

GREEN TOMATO SWEET PICKLES. One peck of green tomatoes, one dozen large white onions, six red peppers coarsely chopped, one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of ground allspice, one tablespoonful of ground cinnamon, one tablespoonful of whole mustard, one tablespoonful of whole cloves, three pints of vinegar. Slice peaches, three pints of vinegar. Sprinkle them thoroughly with salt, but not too heavily. In the morning drain off the liquor. Have ready the onions coarsely sliced. Take a kettle and put in a layer of tomatoes, then a layer of onions, and sprinkle between each layer the sugar and all the spices. Pour over them the whole pint of vinegar, and cover the whole with one-half pint of water. The onions can be left out if the flavor is objectionable as the pickles are equally good without them.

PEPPER HASH. Twelve large red peppers, twelve large green peppers, fifteen onions. Take seeds from peppers. Chop fine in food chopper and pour over boiling water. Let stand five minutes and then drain. Make a weak solution of vinegar in proportion of one part vinegar to two parts water. Pour over the pepper and onion mixture. Let stand five minutes. Then add one-half pint of water for the above amount of peppers and onions. Put in the chopped peppers and onions. Let boil then drain again. Add one pint of vinegar, two and one-half cups sugar, three table-spoons salt. Let all come to a boil, put in jars and seal.

This makes an excellent relish. It also looks pretty on the table, as the red, green and white keep their colors well.

PICKLED GRAPES. Take ripe grapes, remove all imperfect and broken ones, divide large perfect and broken ones, place in a jar of grape leaves. Put in leaves in layers. To four quarts of vinegar, take two or three pints of white sugar or more if desired, one ounce of cinnamon, half ounce cassia and cloves, boil vinegar, sugar and spices together a few minutes, and pour over the grapes. By pouring cold pour over the grapes cold you will avoid cracking them, and they retain their natural color.

THE TABLE. Filled Green Peppers—Select peppers, wash them, stand in cold water. After cutting off the small ends and removing seeds, fill with the following: One cupful of eggs (beaten good). Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve by standing dish in hot water. Dissolve sugar in grape juice and lemon juice and strain gelatin into it. Set in ice water and stir occasionally until it begins to thicken, then add egg whites and beat until stiff. Serve whipped cream or soft custard.

Camera for Aviators. One of the new devices by which European war aviators obtain a correct photograph of the enemies' position is a camera operated with a trigger like a pistol. It can take clean and distinct photographs for military purposes at an altitude of 600 feet or more. The aviator takes aim and pulls the trigger as though firing a revolver. The pistol camera was invented by the Germans, but one of them was found on board an aeroplane brought down by the French. It was so simple and effective that it was copied in large numbers for French aviators.

More to the Purpose. "Why in the world did you endorse a check for that fellow, when you didn't know who he was?" "He hypnotized me with questions from Shakespeare." "Well, the next time a chap comes along with a bogus check ask him to quote something from Dun and Bradstreet."

"Meat Prices Will Not Come Down"

is the cheerful news that comes from the Department of Agriculture. Meat prices will not worry the man or woman who knows that a Shredded Wheat Biscuit will supply more real body-building nutriment than beefsteak or eggs and at much less cost. Shredded Wheat remains the same price, the same high quality, supplying all the nutriment a man needs for a half day's work. Two shredded wheat biscuits with peaches and cream or other fruits make a complete, nourishing meal at a cost of not over five cents. Made at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

DEVoured THEM.
Mary—Oh, ma'am, the cat's had chickens!
Mistress—Nonsense, you mean kittens.
Mary—What was it the mister brought home last night?
Mistress—Chickens, of course.
Mary—Well, then, that cat's had 'em.

Anita Stewart Says

THE "EXTRA GIRL"
Before starting just let me say that I know the life of an "extra" in the movies quite well, and I will try to present it to you as faithfully as possible.

Not all photoplayers are stars—not all of them are in what is called "stock" that is, there are some girls who do not receive a stipulated salary every week whether they have worked or not. These girls are what they call "extras" and are paid by the day when they work.

A great many of the stars of today started their screen career as "extra" girls or boys, as the case may be. However, time wore then different for the stars of the legitimate stage had not forsaken the footlights for the camera. At the present time a person without a great amount of pluck and ambition would be unable to ride over this period of being an "extra."

Extra people stay in the yard and lobbies of the studios and wait for the directors of the different companies to call them for a minor part. As a general rule they play parts of maids, salesgirls, and similar roles.

The work is very trying, since they work for a different director each time they are called. It is the much easier to work right along with one director, because you are able to understand his ideas.

Sometimes these girls and boys will work two and three times a week, and then again they may not work for a month. It depends entirely upon the state of affairs which exists at the time and how many companies are working in the studios.

"Extras" must keep their personal appearance as attractive as possible, for looks often help in securing engagements.

Most of the "extra girls" whom I have met are girls who do it with hope of gaining entrance to stardom at some future date. The average girl in moderate circumstances would be better off in another kind of situation that does not eat up her resources so fatally.

The recompense varies according to the parts taken. If a girl determined to be an "extra" really is willing to sacrifice practically a few years of her life in order to gain a footing, and has talent as well as screen beauty (this is different, however), I wish her God-speed. But as I have said before, be sure you are right before you go ahead.

SIDE TALKS
A letter friend wants me to say that I think constitutes a really amusing jest. One might as well ask what flower is the most lovely or what type of beauty is the most attractive.

In other words, "a jest's prosperity lies in the ear of him that hears it" as well as in its intrinsic character. The element of absurdity and exaggeration is said to be the prime characteristic of the typical American jest.

The Element of Absurdity.
Take for instance the old story of the man who dislikes the household cat. Doubtless you remember the wife: "Did we remember to leave anything for kitty to eat while we are gone?"

Husband: "Oh, yes, I put a can of salmon on the floor with the can opener beside it."

That is a typical American jest. The more literal type of mind would probably assure us that the cat couldn't open the salmon can. There is one type of humor that appeals particularly to men. This is the sort of jest in which someone gets knocked down or outwitted or left behind or something of the sort. For instance, read to a man the passage in "Three Men in a Boat" in which, while the three are swimming, one of their shirts is knocked out of the boat. George (or is it Harry?) thinks this is wonderfully funny until he finds it is his own shirt. There isn't a man living who won't chuckle heartily over George's chagrin. A woman wouldn't find it half so amusing.

Puns have been pretty thoroughly discredited by the surprising universality of the saying, "A pun is the lowest form of jest." I can well imagine who said that first—someone who had the terrible facility of making a pun a dozen times a day and who expected a laugh for every one. Personally, although they do not greatly amuse me, the ability to make puns seems so wonderful (I never accomplished but two in my life) that I would scarcely call them the lowest form of wit. Besides, I reserve that distinction for another form of so-called wit. But that's another story.

The Jest That Makes You Think.
A jest that makes you think is my own favorite type of humor. You laugh and then you think. A splendid example of this is the following story quoted by Agnes Repplier:

"A woman who had been very wealthy and fashionable person goes to Heaven. St. Peter leads her first through the beautiful streets, then into a less desirable neighborhood, and, finally, into a narrow, unlovely street. He stops before a miserable little house. 'This,' says St. Peter, 'is your habitation.' 'But I could not possibly live in any place so shabby

Three Spheres of Believer's Life

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department Moody Bible
Institute of Chicago

TEXT—Christ our life.—Col. 3:1.

If the three spheres in which the believer's life is said to be kept distinct in the mind, much confusion of thought will be avoided.

"Your life is hid with Christ in God." Col. 3:3. This is the place of supreme satisfaction and absolute safety; the place of opened vision where the unseen things which make the present afflictions, however severe, to be avoided.

It is the place of close fellowship with God and his son, Jesus Christ. The place of abiding, changeless joy, for in his presence there is fullness of joy and pleasures forevermore. Vision, fellowship and joy like that which Christ himself enjoys belong to the Christian whose life is hid with Christ in God. It is the place of absolute safety from all attacks of the evil one. None can reach Christ hidden with him. It is the place of safety from all the altitudes of the world. The Christian walks through them unseeing, having his vision filled with the unseen. Standing in that place he endures as seeing him who is invisible. The safety of Christ is not more certain than the safety of one whose life is hidden with him in God. All the Christian has to do to enjoy the things that Christ enjoys, and to be satisfied with the satisfaction Christ has, is to open the eyes and look about in that wonderful place of satisfaction and safety which speaks of the Christian's standing. There is no struggle there, no discord, no fear, no fighting; but peace is there for heart and mind; harmony is there and rest and quiet that soothes and comforts as the believer rests in the God-given place.

"The life that I now live in the flesh." Gal. 2:20. This is the place of constant, never-ceasing struggle and strife, but in which may be constant success and victory. Self, (which is but another name for the flesh), and Christ, can no more be mixed than oil and water. "The flesh lusteth against the spirit and the spirit against the flesh, and these are contrary the one to the other." Gal. 5:17. As long as the Christian is in the flesh, so long will there be the struggle. Constantly will the flesh demand recognition and unless there be constant vigilance there will be making provision for the flesh and consequent defeat. The flesh cannot be changed by the coming of the Holy Spirit, however full the coming may be. Nor can the flesh be subdued by any set of rigid rules which might be adopted. It will remain wholly unchanged, the enemy of God and Christ, and will continue to war against the spirit. The only hope of success and victory is to do as the Lord directs, and reckon it to be dead. And a dead thing is to be buried and put out of sight. In spite of its power and vitality the Christian may, if he will, have constant victory through Christ. Each believer may say and say truly, "I can do all things through Christ." It is when the Christian attempts to secure victory through Christ aided by self that failure comes. It is hard for the believer to allow Christ to do it all, but only as he is allowed, will freedom and success for the life lived in the body be realized.

"I am no more in the world, but these are in the world." John 17:11. This is the place of service with him. His promise, "Lo, I am with you always," is given to the servants who go forth at his command. As long as the Christian is in the world he is in the place of service as Christ was. To render acceptable service, and service which will bring results in honoring the Lord, there must be a certain separation from the friendship and ways of the world. As the Christian takes the place of a stranger and foreigner to the world, there comes to him the experience the master had and he delights to do the will of God. He enters into the endeavor of Christ to show forth the Father and bear the messenger's message to the world, and he enters into a close, warm fellowship with Christ in all his service for the world. The Christian's life in the world is one of constant service. Not the servant of the world but the servant of the Lord. Many seem to live and work as though they were servants of the world and therefore they appear to try to curry favor with it. But the believer must ever remember truly that "he who would be the friend of the world is the enemy of God." We are not to seek the friendship either of the good, moral and religious world, nor of the bad, immoral and irreligious world. All like, until yielded to the demands of Christ, are the enemies of God. To serve acceptably there must be entire separation. Hidden in God the believer's life is in the place of constant struggle, and in the world is the place of constant service.

THE ARREST OF PAUL.
Strange are the reprisals of history! A furious rioting with anger, and rushing like an avalanche of death upon one whose face shines like that of an angel! As the murderers run they toss their garments at the feet of a young man who acts as official witness. Twenty years have passed, and the same scene is transpiring on the same spot. Only in the place of Stephen stands the very man who has consented to his death. * * * Paul had come to Jerusalem to make peace, if possible, between Jewish and Gentile factions. He had come in spite of warnings that it would cost him liberty and life. He had been quoted as hostile to the law. He proposed to show this false by himself observing the feast which commemorated the giving of law. He would also join certain Nazarenes and help them fulfill their vow. He could give evidence of the friendly spirit of the Gentile toward the Jew in the donation for the relief of their poor. * * * The Jews of Asia had often heard Paul affirm that the middle wall of partition must be broken down. They took him to literally mean the wall that separated between the court of the Gentiles and the inner court. So finding Paul within the sacred palisade they sprang to the conclusion that he was then and there engaged in breaking it down by the introduction of the uncircumcised within it. The cry is raised, "Men of Israel help!" As if this inoffensive, thoughtful man, making not the slightest resistance, ready for arrest and all the formalities of civil prosecution, as if he were some frightful menace to peace and safety. * * * No sooner had Paul been tossed out of the inner court than the brazen gates shut with a clang behind him—perhaps to prevent his finding an asylum there, or to inflame the populace still more by signifying that the Levites considered the Temple polluted. However that may be, no more significant circumstance can be conceived. Those closing gates are a striking figure of the Hebrew heart closing against its last prophet. * * * Up and tumult prevail, excitement is rife. The Jews are in a jealous rage for their temple. The Romans are stricken with a fear that the Egyptian zealot has made his appearance. Excitement universal? No! one heart is calm, and that the heart of the man who is in most danger. Out of the very jaws of his defeat Paul seizes an opportunity to preach his gospel. How significant his pulpit!—a staircase—midway between Hebrew temple and Roman tower. Like a mediator Paul stands there saying, "Hand upon Gentile and Jew." * * * The vanquished is really victor. His raiment covered with dust and his visage marked, how Christlike the benignity that can address his assailants "Brothers and fathers!" * * * Within the very precincts of the temple, in sight of the very spot where he had taken an official part in the legal murder of the first Christian martyr; Paul tells the story of his conversion. He was a Jew born indeed in a distant province, but graduating from the Jerusalem school of Gamaliel, a zealot and a persecutor. But how complete his transformation! Relinquished all hope of preterit; suffered the tenderest ties of kinship to be broken; went a voluntary exile; became as the off-scouring of the world, counting all that he prized before as dross; wearing as a slave the brand of the Nazarene and glorying in it; yes, rejoicing now in prospect of martyrdom. And the incredible transformation had come to him, not by the slow infiltration of Christianity, but in the very height of his career as a persecutor, by the miraculous appearance to him of Jesus the Nazarene.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.
This narrative fairly bristles with points of application to our times in general, and to our personal experiences in particular. * * * The mob is the most odious spectacle the world can witness. Mobs are often, as in Paul's case, the instruments of a cruel injustice. For example, it was on the supposition that Paul had brought the Gentile into the inner temple that he was treated with such violence. * * * The suspension of law is the coveted opportunity of the worst elements. If justice would convict according to evidence, judges inflict penalties according to law, and refuse to refrain from mitigating penalties the excuse for mobs would be removed. * * * In transitional times, the example of Paul is to be imitated. He pursued the middle course. The Jewish Christian might obey the law up to any point below trusting it for salvation. On the other hand, the Gentile Christians were encouraged to continue in their liberty from the law. * * * Persecution often defeats itself. It sent Paul to Rome. Standing there at the golden milestone he could send the gospel out the numberless avenues radiating from it, he could make converts in Caesar's household and the pretorian guard, could write epistles and man the Churches, and all under the protection of the Empire. * * * Jesus held the mirror of history before the holy city when, in his familiar lament, he cried, "O Jerusalem, that killest the prophets!" In spite of her unequalled privileges and with the obstinacy of fate she cast herself upon her doom, and her house was left unto her desolate.

THE GREATNESS OF GOD.
A great American thinker once said that God was improving. The word seemed sacrilegious and blasphemous. It offended. But a moment's reflection reveals what he meant by the blank paradox. God is ever the same and perfection is of course incapable of improvement. But human understanding of God is ever advancing. God is the crude tribes of men was a monster, hideous and cruel. To the advanced nations of antiquity the several attributes of God were represented by various deities. Now at length God has come to perfection in the General Townshend's "Spot" Safe.

General Townshend, the heroic defender of Kut, places a dog among his favorites. When he surrendered he made the request of the Turkish Pasha that his dog, "Spot," a fine terrier, might be spared.
The Pasha replied, "It will have a special escort," your excellency, and as a matter of fact "Spot" was the first "prisoner" to arrive at Bassora, the place of the general's internment, and on the dog's collar was a message in the general's handwriting, giving the dog's record as a soldier from the battle of Kurna to the defense of Kut.

"Here's hoping your hope comes out," rejoined the duffy-haired summer maid at his side, "but one can never tell what effect frost will have on such things."

FIRE BLIGHT SPREADING FAST IN MANY WISCONSIN ORCHARDS

Early Signs of Fire Blight.

Bark Cankers Showing on Affected Trees, the Disease Having Entered Through the Twigs.

Many Wisconsin orchards are being consumed by fire without any sign of smoke. Thousands of dollars worth of valuable fruit trees are annually burned up without insurance returns, such by such slowly but surely, this damage is being accounted for largely because of neglect on the part of growers, many of whom fail to notice the progress of the trouble until whole orchards are affected.

The cause of the scorched and blackened twigs and leaves, dead blossoms and cankered bark is known as fire blight, which is one of the most destructive diseases now engaging the attention of Wisconsin horticulturists.

What are the symptoms? Blossoms and leaves wilt and turn brown as if a match had been applied to them. The burned leaves and twigs hang on for months, forming a conspicuous sign of trouble. On the limbs, trunk or even large roots the disease may cause the death of considerable areas of bark. This is evident by rapidly growing cankers on the outer surface of the tree.

What is the cause? To this question G. W. Kelt of the agricultural experiment station answers, "Small organisms called bacteria, which go into the young growing tissues of the tree through the blossoms, or through wounds made by implements or insects. Once inside the plant tissues these bacteria multiply rapidly, spread and soon cause the death of the invaded parts."

"They pass the winter within the living tissues of the edges of the cankers on the larger limbs, and ooze out in sticky, honey-colored droplets in moist weather in the spring. From such sources they are spread, chiefly by insects, to cause new infections. In moist weather bacteria may ooze out from the newly invaded tissues and furnish a further source of infection."

"The nature of the disease is such, therefore, that it cannot be controlled directly by spraying. Spraying for the control of insects which spread the disease, as plant lice, may, however, be of considerable value."

"The only known direct method of fighting the blight is by cutting out and destroying the diseased parts and thus removing the source of infection. If this method could be followed out with sufficient thoroughness over large orchards, the disease could be controlled entirely. However, since insects carry the fire blight bacteria for considerable distances, and since the disease affects a number of places on the tree, the apple as pear, quince and wild crab, upon which it may harbor it is impossible to gain complete success by this method without thoroughly cleaning up large sections, and cutting out any new infections as they appear throughout the season. Nevertheless, much is to be gained under Wisconsin conditions by cutting out fire blight, though the extent to which the campaign is carried must be determined by local conditions. At least the following treatment can be recommended with full confidence for all sections of Wisconsin:

"During the dormant period, in fall, winter and spring, cut out and destroy the larger cankers which harbor the bacteria over winter, and destroy or similarly clean up so far as feasible wild crabs, apple seedlings or neglected apple trees which may harbor the disease. Inspect young trees or slightly affected older trees at frequent intervals throughout the summer, and cut out the disease as soon as it appears. If large trees are very badly affected with twig blight, it is frequently not feasible to cut out the blight throughout the season. In such cases, the disease may be left to run its course until fall or winter, when all the cankers should be removed."

"In removing cankers the simplest method is to cut off the branch well below the last evidence of the disease. If the branch is sufficiently valuable, the diseased part may be cut away well beyond the last sign of discoloration and the branch thus saved. The wound should be trimmed smooth. Healing is aided if the wounds are made Y-shaped above and below, and the bark trimmed around the edges with a sharp knife held at right angles to the branch. All wounds made in cutting out blighted tissues should be disinfected with bicarbonate of mercury, one part by weight in 1,000 parts of water to be had at any drug store—deadly poison. This is readily done by carrying a bottle of the solution and a sponge attached by a string to the clothing of the operator. The tools should be sponged with the bicarbonate frequently. The larger wounds should be painted with white lead or some other protective dressing when they are dry."

"Blighted twigs removed during the growing season should be cut from six to twelve inches below the last evidence of the disease, as the bacteria occur well beyond the discolored areas."

"In the case of young trees, in sections where fire blight outbreaks are especially severe, it is well to avoid forcing the extensively vigorous growth, since young succulent tissues are most affected."

"Some varieties are much more subject to fire blight than others. This should be taken into account in planting new orchards. The Transcendent Crab and Yellow Transparent are examples of varieties that blight very badly. The McIntosh is much less severely attacked."

"It is highly desirable for the people of a neighborhood to co-operate in fighting fire blight, as a few neglected trees may start a severe outbreak."

a movement toward the same and has been made. In Wisconsin there is talk of such a move, but nothing has developed."

In several foreign countries the official government board, or even the Producers' association brand, has been used to such an extent as to quiet all doubts as to its value or feasibility. Holland has its butter brand, supervised by the government, and so reliable that the butter so marked sells for more than any of the similar products without the mark. Wherever it goes the buyers hardly take the trouble to weigh it. Quality and quantity both are guaranteed by the trademark. It is the same with Danish eggs and bacon, with Holland cheese, with Irish butter, with New Zealand butter."

There is no escaping the proposition that agricultural products have for many years been sold for less than they are worth because they have been put on the market in uncertain and unsatisfactory packages. The industrially produced goods have been made salable by attractive packages and known brands. It is hard to sell bulk commodities, no doubt equally good, in competition with much the same article properly graded and packed. The groups of farmers first in the field with good products under suitable brands will be sure of reward. Farm products may be a little hard to standardize, but it is being done. Danes, Dutch, Germans, Swiss, Canadians do, and Americans are capable of handling the matter as successfully as do these people."

AGRICULTURAL and GARDEN DEPT

ALLEN B. WEST, Director

Question—I have a piece of alfalfa in this year that has been cut once. It has started up and is growing well and will probably be large enough to cut again in about two weeks. Do you advise another cutting or would it be better to leave it until I am in need of the hay and would like to cut it.

Answer—In the fourth annual report of the Alfalfa Order of the state of Wisconsin is a graphic answer to the above question in an illustration which shows side by side two bunches of alfalfa, one of which is not quite two-thirds as high as the other. The explanation underneath the picture is as follows:

"Late fall cutting lowers the vigor of the following spring growth."

(1) 22 inches high. Taken from the field where the third crop was cut Sept. 2, 1914.

(2) 17 inches high. Taken from the field where the third crop was cut Sept. 26, 1914.

Late fall cutting is one of the causes of failure and poor stands of alfalfa in the state. Repeated experiments have shown that it is not safe to cut alfalfa after Sept. 10. That farmers have sometimes done so without apparent injury to the crop does not lessen the fact that one runs the risk of great loss in so doing. The exceptional cases are due to favorable weather conditions, upon which it is altogether unsafe to count.

The report above referred to contains much valuable information with regard to alfalfa growing, information gotten as a result of actual experiments conducted by farmers all over the state. This report covers the following points:

1. Causes of failure and poor stands.

2. Rates of seeding—10 or 20 lbs. Which?

3. Seed, whether south, western or northern grown.

Question—I am a professional man, but own a farm. I am anxious to put good stock on it, but am no judge of stock. Can you tell me something that will enable me to become more proficient in that line.

Answer—There is nothing that is so helpful as the study of real stock, under the direction of someone who understands judging. Visit the fairs and see the judging done there, listening to the explanations of the judges for placing the animals. If possible, attend the farmers' course in Madison in February and see the judging there. Visit some farmer friend and get him to show his animals. Come out with the high school boys sometime when they are going out for stock judging and watch their operations. In the meantime one can get a considerable help from intelligent reading and studying such books as "Beginning in Stock Judging" by Plumb, and "Animal Husbandry" by Craig. The addresses of these books will be furnished on application to anyone who wishes to procure them.

Question—My grape vines are not bearing. They are several years old and for a time bore well, but they are not bearing now. They have been well fertilized with stable manure. Answer—it is rather difficult to tell what should be done without more information. It may be that your vines lack cultivation. The top soil should be kept loose and light by shallow cultivation, which should be done early each spring and during the summer. It is possible, unless your soil is gravelly or sandy, that it has been over-fertilized. Grapes do not require much manure and the best kinds for them are those which have but a small amount of organic matter, such as wood ashes. Stable manure may be used on gravelly or sandy soils, but as a rule it is best not to apply manure so long as the vines are making a satisfactory growth without it.

Question—My grape vines died last winter. What is the trouble? Answer—It is probably due to climatic conditions. Nurserymen tell us that last winter was an unusually hard one on all kinds of shrubbery, and farmers testify to an unusual amount of killing out of alfalfa. Such losses will occur occasionally in this latitude and there seems no way to prevent them.

Psychological Problem.

Just as a problem in practical psychology, how many can tell the initials of Mr. Bailey, one-time partner in the Barium & Bailey circus. And who is there doesn't know, on the other hand, that Mr. Barium's name was Phineas T.—Springfield Republican.

RECORD ENROLLMENT AT MILTON COLLEGE

College Campus Already Showing Signs of Activity.—Football Prospects Are Bright.

Milton, Sept. 8.—The Milton college campus is already showing signs of activity in preparation for the largest enrollment in the history of the college on registration day, September 13. From assurances already received, the college students this year will outnumber the total of both college and academy last year. Forty-two freshmen have signified their intention of entering, and the number may reach fifty. This pioneer institution seems to be entering upon a new era of growth and prosperity.

The twenty-two new football suits have arrived, and on September 18 a large squad of husky young Americans will assemble in the athletic park for their practice under the efficient coaching of Walter H. Snell. The college has been very fortunate in securing this "Four Letter Man," a graduate of Brown university and half-back on the famous team that defeated Yale by a score of 23 to 0.

Preparations are already being made for the big jubilee celebration at commencement in 1917. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of old students from all over the country.

The funeral services of Mrs. J. L. Shaw, who died Monday after a long illness, were held Wednesday afternoon at the S. D. B. church, the pastor, Rev. C. R. Randolph, officiating. NO, INDEED!

Nellie—I can't understand why some women make such a secret about their ages—never was afraid to tell what my age was.

Nora—No woman ever objected to telling what her age "was."

As a means of disposing of your real estate, the little want ads are sure winners.

Undying Resentment.
"When I was a little boy," related H. H. Harsh, "and needed money worse than I have ever needed it since, I was hired by a man to do a job of work which was really too hard for me. I toiled and strained through it, and when it was done he said he had no change, but would pay me the first time he found a half-dollar rolling up hill. Then he laughed when I cried. If he is alive today I hope he has ingrowing toe-nails."

Pigs Is Pigs.
John was consuming his broth with noisy inhalations and exhalations. When he had to be reproved the third time his mother showed more impatience than the carefully-trained modern mother usually indulges in. She wound up with: "You sound just like a little piggie eating from a trough!" John regarded his parent gravely for a moment—"An", muvver," he said, "do the little piggies' muvvers talk to 'em like you talk to me?"

A New Affliction.
"Jack," said a friend to a patrolman who had just turned in a report about a man taken ill on the street, "what did you say was the matter with that man in your report?" "I reported," said the patrolman, with all the dignity of an accurate diagnosis, "that he had fell down in an athletic fit."

A good way to advertise—use Gazette want ads.

BETTER MARKETING MEANS BETTER PRICE

By S. H. HIGGARD,
Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

One of the worst drawbacks to the dairy business is the lack of certainty as to the quality of the product when sold. A few attempts recently have been made to remedy the trouble.

In the marketing of grain, quite well-known standards have been worked out, and now the government is planning to give utility and definiteness to the grades as they have been worked out. By this means the farmer with the good grain will get the high prices and the farmer with poor grain will be obliged to take less.

This, however, is not the main consideration. The grain buyers will not, it is hoped, be able to undergrade the grain in buying it.

In the case of dairy products there is as yet no standard recognized by farmers, receivers or customers. The nearest approach to it is the centralizer carton butter which is held very close to a constant quality. The advantages of this uniformity of quality are enormous. The butter, while not necessarily of high grade, is at least fair, and to those who like it, it is the very important point of being always the same.

Not much has been done in this country towards standardization of farm products. Minnesota has made a start in branding butter. In Iowa

Notaries Public.
Notaries public are said to have been appointed by the primitive Christians to collect such facts as were obtainable about the marriages of the first century. The office afterward took a legal form and had to do with the attesting of deeds and other writings.

Sarsaparilla.

Sarsaparilla grows all over the island of Porto Rico. It is in common use and "liberos" peddling it in small bundles are to be seen constantly. It is used for medicinal purposes, brewed in the form of various teas and other decoctions, and also steeped in rum.
